

Environmental Education Association of South Carolina

November 7, 2022

Dear Supporter:

Please consider sponsoring the 2023 Environmental Education Association of South Carolina (EEASC) Conference! EEASC is a nonprofit association with a leadership role in environmental education in South Carolina. EEASC members represent a broad range of interests and professions including classroom teachers, naturalists, park rangers, interpreters at zoos and gardens, 4-H and Scout leaders, government officials, private industry representatives, and others who enjoy teaching about the environment.

EEASC is our state's affiliate of the North American Association for Environmental Education (NAAEE) and is one of 56 organizations throughout North America supporting environmental educators. Our 2023 annual conference will be held June 21-24, 2023 in Beaufort, SC. The event will feature exciting field trips, concurrent and plenary sessions, exhibitors, and opportunities for networking. We expect approximately 75 formal and informal educators to participate in this event.

We need your help to keep conference registration fees as low as possible so that teachers and informal educators can take advantage of this wonderful opportunity for professional development. By supporting the 2023 EEASC Conference, you will enable educators in your area to attend a quality event that fosters continued learning about the environment and about strategies for educating the public.

What's in it for YOU? No matter which level of giving you choose, your organization will be acknowledged with signage at the conference, on printed and electronic conference materials, on the EEASC website and social media, and more. A summary of sponsorship levels and sponsor benefits is provided on the next page. You may complete your sponsorship by check or credit/debit card:

To sponsor by check: Make check payable to EEASC and mail to EEASC at 701 Gervais St., Suite 150-538, Columbia, SC 29201-3066.
